Building. That’s how I describe what we’re doing at the Foundation. We’re building on the organization’s success that began 37 years ago and has continued every day since. After six months on the job, I remain humbled by the efforts of my predecessors, John Mills and Jim Harrison, as they stood up an organization devoted to improving lives.

The staff here works hard to continue that mission and I’m awfully proud to be a part of it. Today’s Carlsbad Community Foundation is under construction, as we are continuously seeking ways to build on what’s here and improve the value we provide. Our new Web site is just one example of that, as we provide a useful tool for our donors, grant recipients and people everywhere to interact with us in a whole new way.

This month’s cover story about the Permian Basin Regional Training Center is another example of building with an eye to the future. The facility’s training mission will remain strong, as Eddy County looks to expand the area’s training capacity at an amazing facility. We’re proud to have played a role in its development and are anxious to see the great good it can provide to public safety in the area.

As we build and grow, we’ll continue to learn. Some of it will be easy and some of it won’t be. Some things will stay the same and others will change. Regardless, I sure appreciate you being right here with us. Together, we can accomplish many things in our community, both today and for years to come.

Mike Antiporda is the executive director at the Carlsbad Community Foundation

Janie Cox recognized as new benefactor

The Board of Directors recently approved Janie Cox as a benefactor of the Carlsbad Community Foundation. Janie recently established the Ronald D. & Janie B. Cox & Family Natural Science Scholarship Fund. The fund honors her late husband Ronald, who taught biology in Carlsbad for 15 years and served another 25 years in administration at Carlsbad High School. She also has deep ties to education having taught French and Spanish, as well as running a preschool. Her generous gift to the Foundation will help students pursuing a degree in natural sciences for many years to come! The Board confers benefactor status upon those who give more than $10,000 to endowment funds.

Florene Kanto leaves a legacy in memory of family members

On May 14, 2014, Carlsbad resident Florene Kanto passed away at the age of 93. Her generosity certainly transcended her time among us. In her will, she designated a portion of her estate as a gift to the Carlsbad Community Foundation for the establishment of two funds – The John M. Kanto Memorial Nursing Scholarship Fund, in memory of her son, and the Eva Rasman Lunsford Memorial Nursing Scholarship Fund, in memory of her mother. The Foundation’s Board recently approved Mrs. Kanto as a benefactor, as is customary for donors of more than $10,000 to endowment funds. We are pleased that she will be a permanent part of our Foundation family.
The Eddy County Commission and the Carlsbad Community Foundation have closed on an agreement to ensure long-term fire/public safety training in the area. The County acquired land and structures at the Permian Basin Regional Training Center, which are valued at more than $12M, from the Foundation for $1.6M. The sale will continue, and likely expand, training for firefighters, first responders and others involved in public safety.

“Our goal is to preserve the mission of the facility and to make it a top notch training facility for all of Eddy County,” said Eddy County Commission Chair Susan Crockett. “This is a positive step that will showcase safety for individuals, organizations and industry.”

The positive mission of the training center emerged from tragic circumstances. Funding for the land, building, and the design/construction of the state-of-the-art live-fire training equipment was made possible through the Smith, Heady, Sumler Family Memorial Fund at the Foundation. The fund was established at the Foundation following the 2000 pipeline explosion near Carlsbad. The facility officially opened in 2008 and includes a memorial for the 12 members of the Smith, Heady and Sumler family that perished in the explosion. The County plans to preserve the memorial as a park.

“We are invested in a very personal way in the success of this facility,” said Foundation Board President Larry Henderson. “We believe in the County’s hands it will grow and prosper.”

The Foundation set out to entrust the facility to an organization that could best continue its public safety mission. The original fund and the proceeds from the sale were used to complete payment of industrial revenue bonds and other expenses incurred in constructing and establishing the facility, leaving the facility free to operate without debt.

“The potential for this training facility is limitless,” said Henderson. “We believe it has a bright future and will serve our community and the region for many years to come.”

The Eddy County Commission and the Foundation Board each voted to approve the sales agreement on Feb. 27. The transaction finalized March 19.

Hard work and a positive attitude drive non-traditional student

By Valerie Cranston

The non-traditional student often juggles two or three jobs, home life with children and college classes. It can be hectic, busy and rewarding.

Stephanie Ruiz is a non-traditional student who stays motivated and inspired by all that she juggles in her life. Her financial burden was recently eased by a scholarship she applied for and received from the Carlsbad Community Foundation.

Ruiz was awarded the Sherry Griffin Memorial Scholarship established in March 1999. Five years ago, Ruiz prayed for guidance concerning her future. She has never lost sight of her goal and has remained focused and determined to better her life.

“I just knew I needed something greater,” Ruiz said. “I prayed and got into school in January 2010.”

Ruiz did receive some financial aid in January 2011 but it was Connie Reid, a regular customer at Ruiz’s job at the Pecos River Café, who told her about the Foundation and its scholarships. Reid is the sister of the late Sherry Griffin for whom the scholarship is named.

“I didn't know about the Foundation,” Ruiz said. “I went that day and got an application. It was just amazing. It is awesome. They want to help and there are scholarships out there.”

Since being awarded the scholarship, she has made it her personal mission to put the word out about the Foundation and its scholarships. She shares this information with customers, co-workers and anyone who will listen.

Ruiz, a 1994 graduate of Carlsbad High School, agreed that working hard and setting and reaching goals has set a good example for her children. Her daughter Nicolette, 19, who plans to go back to school, lives with her and is expecting Ruiz's first grandchild in the fall. She is also raising her son Lewis, 16 and her brother Ezekiel, 13, who she calls her son.

She works at the Pecos River Café from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday. She works at Chili's from 3-11 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. She said she has spent 17 years working odd hours to finally get her weekends off.
In May she will earn an associate’s degree in business management and a certificate in accounting. By December, she hopes to earn another associate's degree, this one in business office technology.

“Just because you have children and jobs doesn’t mean you can’t go to school,” said Ruiz.

For her, hard work is nothing new. She watched both her parents, Carol Adams and Edward Ruiz, work hard and she was told growing up to make sure she had a job to pay for shelter and a car and to always pay her bills. Through life's challenges, she has learned to depend on herself.

“I make sure I always have money coming in,” she said.

Ruiz's mother went back to school at age 40 and earned an associate degree in criminal justice. Her sisters Jennifer and Wendy are close to earning their degrees and her sister Celeste just started working toward a nursing degree. They are all encouraging sister Jasmine to go back to school.

“I know I was destined for something and my children have kept me motivated,” she said pausing to wipe her tears. “I want my kids to work hard like I did. I tell them I'm here for their needs, but not to depend on me for other things.”

“I have high expectations of myself right now at my age,” she said noting, she strives for all A's.

“I appreciate the scholarship and they are all great people. I want to thank the Foundation so much.”

“I'm excited about learning and it is so inspiring,” Ruiz said. “Don't let anyone hold you back.”

Don’t let anyone hold you back.

Nominations sought for Crawford Awards

The Carlsbad Community Foundation is looking to recognize some of our community’s finest. Nominations are now open for the A.J. Crawford Memorial Awards, which will be presented at the Foundation’s Annual Awards Dinner on September 17. Recipients are chosen by a committee comprised of the Foundation Board and other local citizens. Award categories are as follows:

Humanitarian Award – For excellence and compassion in community service

Special Recognition Award – For a humanitarian who reflects outstanding qualities of excellence and compassion, who garners very modest, if any, public recognition

Pioneer Award – For long-term humanitarian service by an individual or family with historic ties to our community

Arts & Humanities Award – For long-term community service in the arts and/or humanities

Community Service Organization Award – For humanitarian service of excellence and compassion by a non-profit organization

Good Samaritan Award – For an individual whose single, meritorious act was directed at protecting the life or health of another. This award is not given annually, but as deemed appropriate.

Legacy Award – For an individual or family held in high esteem during their lifetime for long-term humanitarian service. This award is chosen by the Foundation Board.

Nomination forms may be returned to the Foundation at 114 S. Canyon Street in person or by mail. This year, nominations are also being accepted online at www.carlsbadfoundation.org. The deadline for submitting nominations to the Foundation is June 30, 2015.

Two ways to nominate!

You may nominate deserving individuals and organizations in two different ways:

1) By filling out the paper nominating form and returning to the Foundation by:

   Mail 114 S. Canyon St.
         Carlsbad, NM  88220

   Fax  (575) 885-0861

   Email Scan and send to info@carlsbadfoundation.org

or

2) Visit our new Web site and nominate someone online:

Now, the Carlsbad Community Foundation goes where you go! Whether on your computer, tablet or smart phone, visit our new Web site at www.carlsbadfoundation.org. You can read the latest Foundation news, sign up for our newsletter or make a donation to the Foundation.

“The new site connects us to people well beyond city limits,” said Executive Director Mike Antiporda. “People who grew up here or those who worked here and then moved away don’t stop caring about this community when they leave. The site gives them an opportunity to stay informed and involved with the things here that they still care deeply about.”

The online donation feature works just like the traditional donation form. Gifts may be made to support the Foundation or designated to any fund. And as always, you can memorialize a loved one or honor someone for a special achievement. A receipt letter is provided to donors by email and notifications can be made to specified individuals by either email or letter. Up to three separate gifts may be made in a single online transaction.

Online donations may be paid using a credit card or PayPal and low online handling fees keep donations whole. The online option conveniently eliminates the need to find a printed donation form, envelope and stamp.

Of course, we’ll continue to make use of the traditional donation forms (one is included for your use on Page 13), but are glad to offer this as a new resource to our donors.

We hope you’ll like using this new tool for your charitable giving!

The Catalyst gets a new look

We hope you like the new look of The Catalyst! We’re publishing in full color so we can better share how your partnership with the Foundation is serving our community.

We now develop the newsletter in-house and have re-designed it in a way that reduces our costs! And, if you prefer, you can receive your copy by e-mail. Just visit our new Web site to sign up!

The Foundation’s online giving tool puts your charitable giving choices at your fingertips!

Celebrating Unity

Karen Orgain Green is shown above with the Martin Luther King, Jr. Choir from the Boys & Girls Club of Carlsbad. She organized the choir and they performed in conjunction with MLK celebrations earlier this year.
